Around the world, armies and rebel groups are taking over schools and universities, turning places of learning into places of war. Soldiers sleep and store weapons in classrooms, detain and interrogate in offices, train in playgrounds, and set up guns on roofs.

Students from around the world are saying it’s time to End Military Use of Schools.